(x) Convinced that the family is the natural and fundamental group unit of society and is entitled to protection by the state and others in accordance with national laws. Children under 18 years should receive the necessary protection and assistance to enable families to contribute towards the full and equal development of their members, particularly with respect to health, education, and adequate nutrition. The family's economic resources should be distributed equitably between the spouses and, where appropriate, between parents and children. The state should promote the establishment of an effective system of social security to protect the family and its members and to encourage the creation of associative organizations in this field.

Global Gender Gap Report 2020 | World Economic Forum

The report presents a decidedly mixed picture. Overall, the quest towards gender parity has improved, ducking back under 2018 index. Greater political representation for women has contributed to this, but overall the political arena remains a male-dominated space. The economic participation of women remains low, with women being more likely to work in sectors that tend to pay less and are less likely to be engaged in higher-skilled, higher-paying jobs. The gender pay gap persists, with women on average earning less than men.
